Reflections

For many of us we are in the season of Advent, an exciting time of the Christian year.

As we gather, physically or virtually and participate in the lighting of the Advent candles, singing of the carols or sharing in the reading set for each Sunday, there's a growing sense of anticipation.. A sense of something coming that's very significant and important!

With 2020 being such an unprecedented year that has thrown plans and caused concern and fear, our liturgies, readings, services, carols and preparations all call us to reflect again on the greatest gift our world has seen or experienced.

It's the prayer of the Council that as each of us journey this road to the Christ event that we are again struck by the wonder and awe of the love and hope so freely offered

- Ian

News from the Council

Since the VCC AGM on October 7th the Council has been extremely busy in a number of ways :

- with the aid of the input from participants at the AGM and those who filled in the Survey, Council is discerning the priorities for 2021
- Council has continued to work with faith leaders and the State Government to enable our Communities to open up again as the Covid 19 restrictions ease.
- Council has also sought to be a conduit of information and resources for member churches as they have sought to continue to engage with and minister to their communities of members through these times of being unable to gather physically
- Council is currently developing it's budget for 2021 conscious that member churches have been affected by this year of uncertainty.

This Advent Season Remember the Christmas Bowl Appeal

Over 70 years ago a young Methodist Minister place a bowl on the table on Christmas day and invited his guests to make a gift towards others ... we can continue Rev Frank Byatt's legacy and participate in alleviating the suffering of others around the world by being part of this years appeal.

2020 Advent Resource

Share God's love through the Christmas Bowl

The Christmas Bowl is the Christmas appeal of Act for Peace, the international aid agency of the NCCA.

The 2020 Advent resource contains Bible readings from the Lectionary, Prayer points and information about each of the areas that Act for Peace are working in and the projects that will be funded by your Christmas Bowl donations.

Scanlon Institute New Intercultural Marriage Essay

I am writing to you from the Scanlon Foundation Research Institute. We are an independent research organisation created by the Scanlon Foundation with the very simple intention of studying the dynamics of social cohesion in Australia and making the voices of migrants more prominent in Australian society.

Acknowledging our shared interest in fostering authentic multiculturalism in Australia I thought it would be fitting to draw your attention to our latest Essay titled 'Intercultural Marriage and the Changing Face of Australian Families'.

Today, about one in three registered marriages in Australia are intermarriages. This essay tells the story of what it is like to grow up in an intermarried family in Australia and how these families are changing the cultural worldview of the next generation of Australians.

Our Institute would be delighted if you felt comfortable in passing it on to those within your networks, broader community and social media channels. Although we know that there are many of these stories out there and we have only been able to tell a few, we would certainly appreciate if you shared with us others experience of intercultural marriage. You can share the essay using this link: <https://scanloninstitute.org.au/publication/intercultural-marriage-and-changing-face-australian-families>

Please don't hesitate to drop us a note if you would like to introduce us to any stories, people or thoughts. If you would like to be kept in the loop on our activities feel free to connect with us on:

Pax Christi International

Nuclear Weapons Banned:

50th ratification of United Nations treaty

For decades Pax Christi International has been working toward a nuclear weapon-free world with members and partners from every corner of the world. Today, Honduras, ratified the United Nations Treaty on the Prohibition of Nuclear Weapons, agreeing with 84 other signatories and 49 other states parties to “never under any circumstance . . . develop, test, produce, manufacture, otherwise acquire, possess or stockpile nuclear weapons.”

The treaty brings the force of international law to nuclear disarmament efforts.

Pax Christi International celebrates this historic achievement, including the efforts of the 2017 Nobel Peace Prize winning International Campaign to Abolish Nuclear Weapons, of which we are a member. More than 80 countries have shown moral leadership through early signings and ratifications, and we urge remaining UN Member States to follow in their lead.

The new treaty reinforces legal, diplomatic, and financial pressure in addition to public advocacy for the total eradication of nuclear weapons. The treaty enters into force in three months.

Nuclear devices are weapons of mass destruction, with radiation disproportionately affecting women and girls. Indigenous people are especially vulnerable as their lands are exploited for resource extraction and testing in the development of nuclear technologies.

The UN treaty obliges states parties to help with victim assistance and environmental remediation, within and beyond their own jurisdictions. An estimated 200,000 people died as a direct result of the bombings of Hiroshima and Nagasaki, with many survivors—hibakusha—still struggling with discrimination, trauma, and extensive health problems.

Pax Christi International and through members in all regions will continue to advocate for further signatures, ratifications, and full implementation of this treaty. Our work will continue with church leaders, governments, and at the United Nations. As the Catholic peace movement, we look especially to the Vatican for leadership, encouraged by Pope Francis' words, "The common destiny of humankind demands a world without nuclear weapons."

The Treaty on the Prohibition of Nuclear Weapons is the first legally binding international agreement to comprehensively prohibit nuclear weapons. There are nine nuclear-armed states in the world, none of which have signed the treaty. It was adopted at the United Nations on 7 July 2017. For the full text of the treaty, please visit the United Nations website. For more information on the ongoing efforts to build a world without nuclear weapons, visit the ICAN website.

Child Protection Unit, Department of Health and Human Services

Reporting to protect children

Mandatory reporting is about protecting children. Children can carry the trauma of abuse for years, unless they get help. They need the adults around them to report child abuse and neglect.

You might have noticed some media attention in September this year about new laws passed by the Victorian parliament to do with reporting child abuse. The media focussed on priests, but actually the law will cover people in religious ministry in the various faiths across Victoria.

If you are ordained, appointed or recognised as a religious or spiritual leader a religious organisation, this new law will apply to you. You will become a mandatory reporter to Child Protection in early 2020.

If a mandatory reporter believes a child might be at risk of physical injury or sexual abuse and their parents are not protecting them, they have to report what they believe to Child Protection as soon as they can, even if information came through religious confession.

To make a report you do not need to be sure or have any proof. You just need to be genuinely worried the child might be at risk. It is up to Child Protection to decide what to do. Your identity will be confidential, and the law protects you from any liability if the report is made in good faith.

Child Protection workers are trained to assess risk to children from child abuse and neglect. They will decide what to do about what they are told. They might give you some information and advice. They might refer the family for support. They might investigate the report. They can do what is needed to protect the child. Often, Child Protection can arrange the help parents need to keep their children safe. Sometimes children might need Child Protection to step in to protect them.

Find out more on the Department of Health and Human Services (DHHS) website <https://providers.dhhs.vic.gov.au/mandatory-reporting> - or search 'mandatory reporting victoria'

There will be free information sessions about mandatory reporting for people in religious ministry early next year. Bookings will open soon. Keep an eye on the mandatory reporting website.
